

ROSS KIRBY, AIA

MANAGING PRINCIPAL

Ross Kirby is a technically gifted architect who is always looking for a better way to design and develop drawings. Early in his career, Ross embraced the use of 3D BIM drawing systems such as Revit and has been a devoted user ever since. His professional experience encompasses a broad base of complex building types and uses, displaying his ability to dynamically apply design and building principles to meet the needs of any project. In addition to his Masters in Architecture, Ross has a Masters in Construction Management, rounding out his understanding of the entire design and construction process. As an Principal, Ross is a hands-on leader throughout the life of our projects and spearheads the evolution of Dynamik Design's BIM technology implementation.
